A Case Study on the Implementation of Six Sigma Within Starwood Hotels and Resorts William Gemkow, 2011-03
Research Paper from the year 2010 in the subject Business economics - Business Management, Corporate Governance, grade: A, University of Brighton (School of Service Management), course: International Hospitality Management, language: English, abstract: During the last years, quality and consistent service experience has become crucial factor in the hospitality industry; shareholders invest only in reliable products, customers become more demanding and evaluate the received services more critically and the employees drive for training and development. Continuously change and rethinking is required to keep track. The author will analyze the change strategies used by Starwood Hotels & Resorts to launch the quality management tool Six Sigma in order to reduce the amount of bad service encounters and align the organization into one direction. The 5-P model was chosen, as it gives a simple and logical approach to the purpose for change, priorities during the implementations, involved people, change process as well as the proof of the change outcome. The analysis shows, that the successful top - down transformational change approach by Starwood Hotels & Resorts Executives led to short - term financial benefits and increased guest satisfaction and employee motivation in the long run.

Hospitality Marketing Francis Buttle, David Bowie, Maureen Brookes, Anastasia Mariussen, 2016-10-04 This introductory textbook shows you how to apply the principles of marketing within the hospitality industry. Written specifically for students taking marketing modules within a hospitality course, it contains examples and case studies that show how ideas and concepts can be successfully applied to a real-life work situation. It emphasizes topical issues such as sustainable marketing, corporate social responsibility and relationship marketing. It also describes the impact that the internet has had on both marketing and hospitality, using a variety of tools including a wide range of internet learning activities. This 3rd Edition has been updated to include: Coverage of hot topics such as use of technology and social media, power of the consumer and effect on decision making, innovations in product design and packaging, ethical marketing and sustainability marketing Updated online resources including: power point slides, test bank of questions, web links and additional case studies New and updated international case studies looking at a broad range of hospitality settings such as restaurants, cafes and hotels New discussion questions to consolidate student learning at the end of each chapter.

Hotel Perennial Denise Akason, Bill Bennett, Franco Famularo, 2017 The Hotel Perennial case puts students in the shoes of Dan Jameson, founder and CEO of a boutique real estate private equity firm called EL Investments (ELI), as he wrestles with the decision of whether or not to acquire the distressed Hotel Perennial, a 194-room hotel on the north side of Chicago, Illinois. When making the investment decision, Jameson (and students) must consider various factors: What is ELI's implicit investment strategy, and what are the firm's core competencies? What are Jameson's goals for growing ELI, and how might the acquisition of the Hotel Perennial fit with those goals? What opportunities and challenges might ELI face if it decides to acquire the hotel? How much would a buyer likely have to pay for the Hotel Perennial to achieve an attractive return? In addition to containing a hotel valuation and modeling exercise, the Hotel Perennial case also exposes students to several real estate industry concepts and terminologies, including those regarding the hotel sector, equity sourcing, and distressed investing. The case material assumes that students have taken an introductory real estate finance course or have relevant work experience. -Show students how an investment decision can go beyond simply crunching numbers and projecting an internal rate of return to include considering an individual's or firm's strategic objectives and core competencies. Students should think through how to ...

Case Studies in Rooms Operations and Management Jeremy Huyton, Sue Baker, 2001 Teaching students in rooms management, and the associated front-office service, is difficult. Hotels are reluctant to permit students to train using real customers and real problems because initial impression of the hotel, and its ongoing reputation, are dependent on the performance of staff members in this vital area of first contact and primary service.

Global Hotel Alliance Peter Zámorský, Michael A. Kruesi, 2018 The Global Hotel Alliance (GHA) is the largest hotel alliance in the world; however, their presence is currently the strongest in their traditional markets in Europe. With the increasing growth of tourism in the East - that is, the Middle East, Asia and Australasia - the GHA is now planning to intensify their presence and strengthen their position in these markets. Initially the decision point of this case is outlined, highlighting the aim of the GHA of intensifying their presence in the East. Next, the background of GHA, including its history and development, outlining the company brands and their global distribution is presented, before highlighting the GHA business structure. The DISCOVERY rewards program is then explained by providing an overview of the program, explaining how it works, and how it differs from the rewards programs of other hotels and hotel alliances. A competitor analysis is then presented, which highlights the similarities and differences between the GHA and its competitors, in particular other alliances in the luxury hotel segment. Finally, two strategic challenges that the GHA has faced are presented, outlining the nature of the challenge, the solution to the challenge, and finally the benefits that have arisen from taking action before concluding the case. The future strategy of GHA will require careful decisions about its positioning in the global luxury hotel industry. To what extent and how should it refocus on growth in the East?

Resilience of Luxury Companies in Times of Change Gabriella Lojacono, Laura Ru Yun Pan, 2021-08-23 Resilience of Luxury Companies in Times of Change is a book for executives and Masters' level students taking courses in luxury management. It offers an insight into the current and emergent business models and strategies luxury companies apply to remain resilient in times of change. It explores a variety of business models answering the following key questions: What is each brand's value proposition used to attract a consumer's willingness to pay? What is each brand's target audience? How do brands navigate and expand their markets? And how do luxury companies organize their resources to design and develop products and services to continually sell to their customers? The answers to these questions provide the foundation of a luxury company's business strategy and, as a result, its brand architecture. The authors also explore the patterns that have emerged in the ownership, management and the manufacturing in luxury goods companies, where dominance is usually found in certain countries. This book focuses on six key industries in the luxury product sector: fashion, automotive, hospitality, furniture, cosmetics and jewellery. It provides an international perspective with examples drawn from Europe, USA, the Middle East, China and Japan. Through these examples and cases, the authors analyze how luxury companies are facing the challenges posed by external shocks and an extensive need for digitalization. Using concepts and theories from macroeconomics (such as globalisation) and corporate and business strategy, the book aims to connect the dots between theory and practice. Resilience of Luxury Companies in Times of Change provides perspectives of the past, present and future - how luxury companies have evolved over time and managed to stay resilient despite the challenges they have faced through the different eras.
