Time Like a River Randy Perrin, Hannah Perrin, Tova Perrin, 1997 Unforgettable is the word best used to describe Time Like a River by Randy Perrin and his young daughters, Hannah and Tova. This book has several themes. The first illustrates the friendship between 13-year-old Margie, who is Jewish, and her best friend, Isabel, who is Catholic. The second is about Margie's mom who has become dangerously ill with an unknown disease. The third is about a school history project the girls are working on which takes them to an historical archive where they find a diary written by a Chinese man 100 years before Margie travels back in time to visit the Chinese man who recently lost his father to a mysterious malady. Through this experience Margie figures out the disease her mother has and helps the doctors save her life. Social Studies teachers can also learn how much more important it is to emphasize how people lived, thought, and felt in the past, rather than make children memorize isolated facts. -Independent Publisher

Random Writes Rithika Ramadugu, 2022-03-02 Random writes is a how every poem is ever written. It's a cry for change and help by the new generation. A wish for a better future, where every person can live for themselves, and not for the society. It's a wish for a change, where every person has the true freedom, where everyone wants to grow throughout their lives and help the society grow. Random writes is a book everyone trying to find their place in the world, trying to fit in can relate to. They are just random words, spoken out loud.
